

MESSAGE OF HIS HOLINESS POPE FRANCIS FOR THE 57th WORLD DAY OF PEACE

Why has it been released today?

Every January 1, the Church celebrates the World Day of Peace with a reflection from the Holy Father on important subjects in relation to the work of building peace.

What is it about?

An open dialogue on the meaning of science, progress and new technologies, in particular the role of artificial intelligence, and their implications for a world of peace and human fraternity.

To whom is it addressed?

To the entire People of God and every people and nation, heads of state and government, the leaders of the different religions and civil society, and all men and women of good will.

“Artificial Intelligence and Peace”

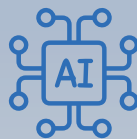

Can the progress of science and technology truly serve as a path to peace?

HUMAN INTELLIGENCE

Given by God, enables us to respond in FREEDOM, UNDERSTANDING and KNOWLEDGE to his love.

SCIENCE and TECHNOLOGY

A brilliant product of the creative potential of human Intelligence.

Their impressive achievements are to be thanked for having remedied many problems and sufferings.

At the same time, they raise some urgent questions to ponder:

What will be the consequences of these new digital technologies?

What impact will they have on individual lives and on societies?
